

Using advanced agro techniques, Ger-Nis produce is grown with a dedicated focus on consistency, uniformity, shelf life, and above all flavor. Ger-Nis fruit production is concentrated solely on organic growers, with an emphasis on Fair Trade systems. Fair Trade not only monitors the entire growing process beginning with the communities where the production lies, but it empowers the communities and growers themselves, creating the opportunity for not only advancement of growers and families within those communities but an overall ability to sustain those very communities for the long haul. All of this is possible while still maintaining the highest level of quality. The result is exquisite products, produced by empowered communities, housed in innovative packaging which fit the needs of consumers and their emerging markets. At Ger-Nis we pay attention to the entire process.....from seed to mouth.
